PROJECT MANDATE

2.1 Purpose

The purpose of this project is to investigate, document, and rectify the historical dispossession of the Buckler family from Great House Farm, Llandough, and to resolve the fraudulent claims associated with the 1987 “BP vs Buckler” case.

2.2 Background

In 1987, legal proceedings (BP vs Buckler) were initiated based on what is alleged to be identity fraud concerning Mary Williams. This resulted in the Buckler family losing their rightful occupancy and ownership of Great House Farm. Recent research into the National Archives and Land Registry records has revealed systemic failures and potential administrative mistakes in the register.

2.3 Objectives

- Establish the legal “identity fraud” baseline for Mary Williams.
- Secure a “Phase 2” resolution from HM Land Registry regarding Title WA231076.
- Obtain a clear position from the Welsh Government and MoJ on the historical fraud.
- Restore the rightful title and/or compensation for the heirs of Mary Williams.

2.4 Scope

- In-Scope: Investigation of Land Registry Title WA231076; Correspondence with Senedd, MoJ, MoD, and Vale Council; Historical records analysis.
- Out-of-Scope: Current unrelated land disputes in the Llandough area not involving the original Williams/Buckler family assets.

2.5 Constraints

- Transition/Dissolution of the Senedd (May 2026).
- Institutional inertia from CADW and the Vale of Glamorgan Council.
- Procedural complexity of “Stage Two” complaints at HM Land Registry.

2.6 Stakeholders

- Project Board: Sion Buckler and heirs of Mary Williams.
- Interested Parties: HM Land Registry, Ministry of Defence, Welsh Government, Vale of Glamorgan Council.

PROJECT BRIEF

3.1 Project Definition

The project aims to challenge the 1987 dispossession via administrative and legal channels, specifically targeting the Land Registry’s “mistake in the register” provisions.

3.2 Business Case

The restoration of Great House Farm is not merely a matter of family property but a test of the integrity of the Welsh Land Registry system and its ability to correct historical fraud. The “BP vs Buckler” case stands as a documented instance of contested legal identity that must be resolved to ensure public confidence in land titles.

3.3 Project Quality Management

Quality will be measured by the successful escalation of complaints to Stage Two/Three and the receipt of legible, substantive responses from government ministers that address the fraud allegations directly rather than pivoting to administrative excuses.

3.4 Project Team Structure

- Project Manager: Sion Buckler
- Senior User: Heirs of Mary Williams
- Senior Supplier: Legal and Historical Researchers

3.5 Project Approach

The approach follows an escalation ladder:

1. Administrative: Exhausting internal complaint procedures (Land Registry, Ombudsman).
2. Political: Leveraging Senedd and Parliamentary oversight (MS/MP engagement).
3. Legal: Direct challenge to the 1987 proceedings if administrative remedies fail.

PROJECT PLAN

4.1 Description

The project is structured into three distinct stages of resolution.

4.1.1 Stage 1: Documentation & Initial Filing (Complete)

- Retrieval of National Archives records.
- Initial filing of “Mistake in the Register” with Land Registry.
- Identification of key stakeholders (BP, MoD, CADW).

4.1.2 Stage 2: Formal Escalation (Current)

- Filing of Stage Two complaints with Land Registry.
- Challenging the “Investigation” shield used by the MoD.
- Overcoming the “Nothing to do with us” stance from CADW.
- Forcing a Full Response from Joe Martin MS and others after the “setting up office” delay.

4.1.3 Stage 3: Legal/Ombudsman Resolution (Scheduled for Q3 2026)

- Referral to the Public Services Ombudsman for Wales (if Stage 1/2 fail).
- Application to the Land Registry Tribunal.

4.2 Planning Assumptions

- That the National Archives records provide sufficient evidence of the 1987 discrepancy.
- That the MoD’s internal investigation will eventually be subject to Freedom of Information or Parliamentary oversight.

4.3 Monitoring and Control

Progress is monitored via weekly email reviews and the maintenance of a Highlight Report documenting institutional positions.

HIGHLIGHT REPORT

5.1 Summary of Institutional Positions

The following table summarizes the current stance of various departments and individuals regarding the Great House Farm dispute and the allegations of historical fraud.

Table 1: Situation Report: Institutional Engagement

Institution / Person	Response Summary	Status
HM Land Registry	Dismissed initial claim; now processing a Stage Two Complaint regarding Title WA231076.	Phase 2
Ministry of Defence (MoD)	Claiming they cannot interfere due to an active investigation underway.	Recused
CADW	Formally stated the matter is “ nothing to do with them ”, despite the site’s heritage.	Hands-off
Vale of Glamorgan Council	Stalling by requesting “ more details ” before engaging with the fraud claims.	Stalling
Joe Martin MS	Delaying response by claiming to be “ setting up a new constituency office ”.	Delaying
Heledd Fychan MS	Declined help , citing a boundary correction that places the user in Cardiff South.	Declined
Welsh Government	Maintaining a position of silence/ignoring direct ministerial engagement.	Ignoring
Ombudsman Wales	Refused email complaint; insisting on formal portal and exhaustion of Phase 1.	Procedural
Stephen Doughty MP	Limited to auto-replies ; no substantive engagement on MoJ/LR issues.	Ignoring

5.2 Progress this Period

- Successful escalation of the Land Registry complaint to Stage Two.
- Identification of the MoD’s internal “investigation” as a key point of inquiry.
- Documentation of the Senedd’s “Dissolution Shield” as a common deflection tactic.

5.3 Issues and Risks

- Cow-towing: CADW and Vale Council appear to be avoiding the core fraud allegations by focusing on administrative boundaries.

- Constituency Pivot: MS members are using boundary corrections to avoid taking responsibility for the case.
- Dissolution: The transition period of the Senedd (May 2026) is being used to justify delayed responses.

5.4 Actions for Next Period

- Follow up on the Land Registry Stage Two Complaint response.
- Query the nature and scope of the MoD's internal investigation.
- Challenge the Vale Council's request for "more details" with the evidence package already provided.
