Dear Ms Hollis, I write further to your letter of 27 April 2026. This correspondence constitutes formal pre-action notice of my intention to pursue legal remedies arising from the historic proceedings concerning Great House Farm, Llandough. While I note your position regarding judicial independence, I do not accept that the issues raised can be dismissed at an administrative level. My representations concern alleged procedural irregularity, misrepresentation, non-disclosure, and structural unfairness which, taken together, raise serious questions as to whether the proceedings were properly and fairly determined. These matters warrant proper consideration, or at minimum clear direction to an appropriate forum capable of examining them. ———————————— A. Grounds for Reparations The basis upon which reparations are sought includes: – Continuous occupation over approximately 318 years (1667–1988), open, peaceful, and without permission (nec vi, nec clam, nec precario), establishing de facto ownership; – No voluntary surrender of rights at any stage, with the claim maintained consistently to the present day; – Uncompensated dispossession, including eviction and demolition without settlement; – Coercive enforcement measures, including forced removal, detention, restraining measures, and demolition under duress; – [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] – [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] – Destruction of an ancestral home of significant age and character (approximately 800 years); – Loss or disappearance of family records and evidential materials relevant to ownership; – Failure to act upon known archaeological and historical significance, resulting in loss of heritage protection; – Resulting public interest harm through the destruction of a site of historical importance. ——————————— B. Grounds to Set Aside or Reopen the 1987 Ruling1. Reliance on a disputed "licence by silence" The judgment relied upon an inferred licence accepted through silence. This is unsafe where: – correspondence was addressed to a disputed identity ("Mrs Buckler"); – evidence of active rejection (including 1978) was not before the court. 2. Identity misrepresentation Mary Williams was treated as "Mrs Buckler," which: – did not reflect her asserted identity; – weakened her position by obscuring lineage-based claims; – artificially linked her to the alleged intent of another party. 3. Misplaced reliance on Frederick Buckler's intent Any alleged intention: – was personal to him and legally distinct; – did not bind Mary Williams; – was extinguished upon his death in 1965; – and was not supported by fulfilment of tenancy obligations. 4. Procedural irregularities (1974) There are serious concerns that: – an appeal attempt and request for a stay were disrupted; – licence correspondence was timed and/or presented so as to defeat due process; – a key hearing was effectively neutralised before determination. 5. Non-disclosure of material facts Relevant matters appear not to have been disclosed, including: – evidence of public rejection of the opposing claim; – archaeological and historical significance of the site; – the existence of an ongoing dispute in the context of land registration. 6. Inconsistent treatment of corporate identity – In 1987, my grandmother's rebuttal to BP Pension Trust was disregarded on the basis that BP Pension Trust and BP Properties were separate entities; – In subsequent proceedings, the same entities were treated as effectively the same when dismissing an appeal. This inconsistency materially affected the outcome and raises concerns as to fairness and legal coherence. 7. Avoidance of substantive title determination The case proceeded within a possession framework rather than determining underlying ownership in an appropriate forum, resulting in the absence of a definitive adjudication on title. 8. Possible misrepresentation / constructive fraud Concerns arise that: – licence arrangements were asserted under a disputed identity; – the authority of the issuing entity was unclear; – planning and property descriptions may have mischaracterised the nature of the building. 9. New or previously unavailable evidence This includes: – missing or unavailable title documentation; – evidence relating to arrangements (including that attributed to Daniel Thomas); – testimony of family members not previously considered [wording updated at the author's request, 19 Oct 2026]; – subsequent archaeological findings supporting the site's significance. ——————————— C. Core Position Taken together, the 1987 outcome is arguable as unsafe due to flawed assumptions, missing evidence, and procedural unfairness. The resulting dispossession, demolition, and long-term harm give rise to a basis for reparative consideration. ——————————— D. Why the Matter Requires Proper Consideration This matter should not be dismissed solely on the basis of judicial independence because: – The issues raised concern the integrity of the process, not simply disagreement with a result; – Allegations of misrepresentation, non-disclosure, and procedural irregularity fall outside ordinary appellate disagreement; – There is a public interest dimension, including loss of heritage and potential systemic issues; – The passage of time does not extinguish claims where fraud or material injustice is alleged; – Clarification is required as to the appropriate forum capable of examining such matters. ——————————— E. Request for Clarification Before commencing proceedings, I request clarification of the following: 1. Whether any formal mechanism exists within government for referring allegations of procedural irregularity or fraud in historic cases for independent review; 2. Whether my correspondence has been referred to any oversight or investigatory body; 3. Whether the Ministry maintains any position as to the appropriate route for consideration of such evidence outside of direct court proceedings. ——————————— Please treat this letter as a formal pre-action notice. I would be grateful for a substantive response within 14 days. Nothing in this letter should be taken as a waiver of any rights or remedies, all of which are expressly reserved. Yours sincerely, Sion Buckler [quoted text trimmed]

M27 · 03 Aug 2026 20:00 UTC · Sion Buckler · Great House Farm, Llandough, Cardiff

Sir/Madam, I wrote to you on 10 June 2026 requesting access to historical court records relating to Great House Farm (Ty Mawr), Llandough, Vale of Glamorgan. I have not received a response. I am seeking confirmation of whether any surviving court records exist relating to possession, title, and related proceedings involving the Williams / Buckler family and the successive parties asserting title through Western Ground Rents Ltd and subsequently BP Pension Trust Ltd / BP Properties Ltd. The proceedings and related matters I am seeking to identify include: – High Court possession proceedings and the possession order of 1955, including any related enforcement records (including the enforcement action concerning the agricultural land on or around 4 July 1955); – Cardiff County Court proceedings of 1962, resulting in the possession order dated 11 December 1962 (before Judge Temple Morris QC), including any related claim for mesne profits; – Cardiff County Court proceedings commenced in 1974, including the part-heard hearing of 3 July 1974 at which Mary Williams asserted ownership and relied upon adverse possession / limitation arguments, the application for leave to enforce in September 1974, and subsequent correspondence concerning the proposed unilateral licence arrangement in October and November 1974; – The subsequent Court of Appeal proceedings in BP Properties Ltd v Buckler [1987] 55 P & CR 337. I request confirmation of whether any surviving records remain, including (but not limited to): – pleadings; – statements of case; – orders; – warrants; – correspondence; – exhibits; – judgments; – case files; – registers or indexes referring to these proceedings or the property. If records remain, please advise the procedure for obtaining copies or arranging inspection, including any applicable fees. If no records remain, please confirm what searches have been undertaken, which repositories or record systems have been checked, and whether any destruction, retention, or transfer records exist relating to these proceedings. Yours faithfully, Sion Hywel Buckler [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] [signature block trimmed]

M28 · 04 Aug 2026 12:43 UTC · Cardiff County, Enquiries · RE: Great House Farm, Llandough, Cardiff

Good afternoon, Thank you for your email. Due to the age of this case, we wouldn't currently hold any existing records for it, in line with our procedures. I can confirm we have conducted a search on our internal case management system, which has not produced any results. We are not privy to any other systems upon which we could conduct a search on the details you provide. It might be worth contacting Land Registry to see if they hold any details on this: HM Land Registry Citizen Centre PO Box74 Gloucester [removed] Thank you. Yours faithfully, Phoebe Owen Administration Officer Adran Gorfodi / Enforcement Section [signature block trimmed] [quoted text trimmed]

M29 · 04 Aug 2026 17:34 UTC · Sion Buckler · Re: Great House Farm, Llandough, Cardiff

Dear Ms Owen, Thank you for your email of 4 August 2026 and for confirming that a search of your internal case management system has been carried out with no results identified. My request was not limited to whether records are currently held on that system. It also sought confirmation of what searches (if any) were made of historical paper records, indexes and finding aids, and what became of the court records relating to the proceedings I identified. You state that, due to the age of the case, the court would not currently hold records "in line with our procedures." I should be grateful if you would clarify the basis for that statement by addressing the following points: 1. What is the precise name of the internal case management system that was searched, and what period of records does it cover? 2. Were any surviving paper finding aids or historical records examined, including cause books, order books, registers of judgments or orders, warrant books, index cards, or any other historical indexes maintained by Cardiff County Court, Cardiff Civil Justice Centre, or their predecessors? 3. Were any archived or off-site repositories under HMCTS control considered or searched? 4. Please identify the records retention, disposal or archival policy, schedule or instruction relied upon in concluding that records of this age would no longer be held. I note that the current publicly available County Court Records Retention and Disposition Schedule specifies relatively short retention periods for possession action cases. I should therefore be grateful if you could identify the historical policy, schedule or instruction that governed the records relating to these proceedings and, if possible, indicate when they would have been scheduled for destruction or transfer. 5. Does HMCTS hold any administrative record of the destruction or transfer of the relevant files, such as destruction registers, certificates, transfer schedules or equivalent records? 6. Were any records relating to these proceedings transferred to another repository, including The National Archives, Glamorgan Archives, or any other archive? If so, I should be grateful if you would provide the destination, date and any available reference. 7. Even if the original case files no longer survive, do any registers, indexes or other administrative records remain recording the existence, progress or disposal of proceedings involving the Williams family, the Buckler family, Western Ground Rents Ltd, BP Pension Trust Ltd, BP Properties Ltd, or Great House Farm (Ty Mawr), Llandough? The proceedings in question include the High Court possession proceedings of 1955 (including enforcement on or around 4 July 1955), the Cardiff County Court proceedings culminating in the possession order of 11 December 1962 before Judge Temple Morris QC, and the Cardiff County Court proceedings of 1974, including the part-heard hearing of 3 July 1974, the application for leave to enforce in September 1974, and the subsequent correspondence concerning the proposed unilateral licence arrangement. I have already been making enquiries of HM Land Registry. However, my present request concerns the court's own records, the searches undertaken in relation to those records, and any surviving administrative record of their retention, destruction or transfer. If the information requested is not held within the Enforcement Section, I should be grateful if this enquiry could be forwarded to the appropriate court manager, records officer or other HMCTS team responsible for historical court records, and if you could kindly confirm that this has been done. Thank you for your assistance. I look forward to your substantive reply addressing each of the points above. Yours sincerely, Sion Hywel Buckler [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] [signature block trimmed] [quoted text trimmed]

M30 · 05 Aug 2026 01:00 UTC · Sion Buckler · Freedom of Information Act 2000 Request – Historical Court Records and Administrative Records Relating to William ("Billy") Buckler (1988–1989)

Dear Sir/Madam, This is a separate Freedom of Information request under the Freedom of Information Act 2000. It is distinct from my earlier request under your reference 260607013 (submitted 7 June 2026), which concerned the location and access options for historical court records relating to Great House Farm, Mary Williams/Buckler, Western Ground Rents and BP (focusing on the 1915, 1955 and 1962 possession proceedings and title/equitable interest evidence). This new request is limited solely to records of the hearing (or hearings) at Barry Magistrates Court in late January 1989 at which the Crown Prosecution Service withdrew the charge arising from the allegation of 29 April 1988 as being "out of time." I write under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to request recorded information relating to criminal proceedings involving William Beverly ("Billy") Buckler arising from events connected with the eviction and demolition of Great House Farm (Ty Mawr), Llandough, Vale of Glamorgan, during 1988–1989. I am seeking administrative and recorded information concerning the handling of these proceedings, rather than personal data contained within individual case files. Specifically, I request copies of, or access to, any recorded information held concerning: 1. The prosecution in which a charge dating from 29 April 1988 alleging threatening words or behaviour was withdrawn because the proceedings were considered "out of time." 2. Any records identifying: – the court in which that decision was made; – the date of the hearing; – the prosecutor involved (reported contemporaneously as Mr Jeff Clarke); – the legal basis upon which the summons was determined to be out of time. 3. Records relating to Billy Buckler's appearances before the courts during January–March 1989, including any surviving: – cause lists; – court registers; – hearing lists; – minute books; – court log books; – bench records; – administrative case records; – listing records; – prosecution correspondence; – disposal records; or similar recorded information. 4. OFFICIAL Good afternoon I have addressed each of the points raised in your correspondence based on the information available to this office. 1. The search was conducted using the court's current internal case management system. The proceedings referenced in your enquiry pre-date the introduction of modern electronic case management systems and would originally have been maintained as paper records. No records relating to the proceedings identified were located. 2. No surviving court file relating to the proceedings specified in your request has been identified. This office has not located any surviving historical finding aids, registers, order books, cause books, warrant books, index cards or similar records relating to those proceedings. 3. The conclusion that records of this age would not ordinarily be held is based on HMCTS records retention arrangements for possession proceedings. Under the records schedule available to this office," paper records are retained for three years from the last meaningful transaction and then destroyed. Where applicable, records may be retained for longer if subject to litigation, audit, inquiry or other legal hold requirements. We do not hold information identifying the specific historical retention schedule applicable to the proceedings 1974. 4. Destroy/Delete: The record is securely destroyed (paper records shredded; electronic records permanently deleted). Many civil court records follow this route after their retention period expires. 5. No destruction register, destruction certificate, transfer schedule or equivalent administrative record relating to the proceedings specified has been identified by this office. M36 · 03 Sep 2026 20:31 UTC · Sion Buckler · Re: Response to your request (our reference 260803049 – SAR)

Attachments: image.png

Disclosure Team, I request an internal review of the SAR response (MoJ reference 260803049) dated 3 September 2026. There's 133 houses about to be developed on this land and I am trying to raise the concern that their title is defective. Please cooperate. The response states: "the MOJ does not hold any personal data within the scope of your request. This is because the files have been destroyed in accordance with the record retention and disposition schedule (RRDS)." This conclusion is not adequately supported by the information provided. I ask the reviewer to address the specific points below. 1. Evidence that the records existed I hold contemporaneous records from the European Commission of Human Rights concerning Application No. 14464/88, Buckler v United Kingdom. Those records establish that a substantial documentary record existed relating to the underlying proceedings and the United Kingdom Government's handling of the case. The existence of that independent documentary trail is directly relevant to the searches that should have been conducted and to the subsequent fate of the corresponding Government records. I therefore ask the reviewer to distinguish between: 1. records which never existed; 2. records which existed but were subsequently transferred to another department, public authority or archive; 3. records which existed but were destroyed; and 4. records which still exist but could not be located by the searches undertaken for this SAR. Your response appears to rely upon category 3, but does not identify the documentary evidence supporting that conclusion. 2. Searches actually undertaken Please establish, insofar as recorded information is available: – the file references or index references searched; – the names and variations searched, including Buckler, Williams, Frederick Buckler, Mary Williams/Mrs Buckler and Sion Buckler /Hywel Buckler; – the relevant court case numbers or archival references searched; – whether historical HM Courts & Tribunals Service and predecessor-body records were searched; – whether records relating to the 1955 possession proceedings were searched; – whether records relating to the [removed] proceedings were searched; – whether records relating to the 1974 proceedings, including the enforcement proceedings, were searched; – whether records relating to the [removed] judgment and 1987 Court of Appeal proceedings were searched; – whether records relating to the Treasury Solicitor/Government Legal Department's involvement in the litigation were searched; – whether records relating to European Commission of Human Rights Application No. 14464/88 were searched; – whether records relating to the 1988 enforcement/eviction were searched; and [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] My request was not limited to the original court files. It sought any personal data relating to me, [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] contained in any records connected with the specified proceedings or the Government's handling of Application No. 14464/88. 3. Evidence of destruction or transfer Your response specifically states that "the files have been destroyed in accordance with the record retention and disposition schedule (RRDS)." Please therefore identify: – the specific RRDS disposal class or rule relied upon; – the version and date of the RRDS applicable to those records; – the applicable retention period; – the date, or approximate date, on which the relevant records were destroyed; – whether a destruction certificate, disposal schedule, destruction log or equivalent audit record exists; – whether the records were destroyed in whole or in part; – whether any records were transferred to another department, public authority or archive; – whether any transfer record exists; and – whether any surviving index, catalogue, register, file list, metadata or other residual record identifies the files which were destroyed. Most importantly, please confirm whether the statement that the files "have been destroyed" is based on an actual surviving disposal record, or is an inference drawn from the absence of the files in current MoJ/HMCTS holdings. There is a material difference between those two propositions. If there is a recorded destruction decision or disposal record, I ask that the reviewer identify the record and the authority under which the destruction took place, subject of course to any applicable exemption or restriction on disclosure. 4. European Commission of Human Rights records I also ask the reviewer specifically to consider the records associated with Application No. 14464/88. I possess records from the European Commission of Human Rights relating to that application. They provide an independent documentary trail concerning the underlying dispute and the United Kingdom Government's involvement. Please therefore clarify whether the MoJ /HMCTS searches included records concerning Government correspondence, legal submissions, memoranda or other material relating to that application, including material involving the Treasury Solicitor or other Government departments. If such records were historically held by the MoJ or its predecessors but subsequently transferred elsewhere, please identify the receiving institution and any known archival or file reference. 5. Conclusion I am not asking the MoJ to recreate records that no longer exist. I am asking for an accurate account of what records were held, what searches were undertaken, what became of those records (destruction or transfer), and what documentary evidence exists of their disposal. If, following review, the conclusion remains that no personal data is held, please provide the reasons for that conclusion together with the recorded information requested above concerning the historical files and their disposal. Please treat this correspondence as a formal request for internal review of the SAR response. Regards, Sion Buckler [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] [quoted text trimmed]

It identifies material for which a reasonable custody or succession inquiry should be made where applicable. 4. Preservation steps Please take reasonable steps to prevent the routine destruction, deletion, alteration or overwriting of potentially relevant material, including material held in archived mailboxes, legacy systems, off-site storage, document-management systems, backup repositories and other electronic or physical stores. Where relevant material has been transferred to another repository, archive, successor organisation or third party, please preserve the information necessary to identify the transfer and its current location, including any accession, file, box, reference or custody details. Nothing in this notice requires the creation of records that do not exist. The request concerns the preservation of records already held or controlled by you. 5. Purpose and legal position This notice is not a finding against any recipient, and I am not asking any recipient to determine title or adjudicate the underlying dispute. The 1987 Court of Appeal judgment is relied upon here only for matters actually determined by that judgment, including the issues concerning possession, limitation and the October 1974 letters. This preservation notice does not treat that judgment as having determined the complete documentary root of title to the farmhouse parcel. The underlying documentary history, including the relationship between the farmhouse parcel and the agricultural land subsequently dealt with through Western Ground Rents and BP, remains a matter requiring reconstruction from the primary records. Accordingly, preservation is requested precisely so that the documentary record can be established from the records themselves rather than through assumptions based on later registration, later occupation, later planning treatment or secondary descriptions. 6. Acknowledgement and identification of records Please acknowledge receipt of this notice and, in your own capacity, confirm: (a) the officer, partner, records manager or other person responsible for implementing the preservation hold; (b) what records within your possession, custody or control you have identified as falling within the scope above; and (c) where you identify no records within scope, what relevant systems, files, repositories or predecessor records you searched in reaching that conclusion. A substantive assessment of title is not requested from you. The immediate requirement is preservation and identification of the documentary material you hold. The public documentary index and developing evidence record is available at: https://greathousefarmwiki.wordpress.com/ <https://greathousefarmwiki.wordpress.com/> Please monitor that site for subsequent identification of documents, references and specific schedules relevant to your organisation's records. Where a reliable public email address is unavailable, a postal preservation notice will also be sent. For example, a postal notice will follow to *Loosemores, Nothing in this notice constitutes an abandonment, waiver or limitation of any claim, position or remedy concerning title, registration, concealment, limitation, reopening, rectification or alteration of the register, or any associated matter. [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case]

Disclosure Team, Thank you for your reply and time and attention in this matter. I want to clarify that I am renouncing the reference to the 133 houses and that parcel as being within the scope of the concerns I am raising with you. [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] In any case, those 133 houses stems from a theory that what was done to obtain our parcel involved fraud, concealment and government involvement, [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] I believe that it all—all parcels—constituted a manorial estate, possibly called Cedfyn, from the knight Sir Herbert of Swansea Cedfyn freehold to the (now) town of Llandough. I attach a map from the 1924 David Stewart survey which, in my assessment, supports this proposition. I therefore assert a claim to our land parcel and have unravelled what I believe to be the circumstances in which we were dispossessed of it, [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case]. However, I hold concerns that the neighbouring parcel that BP obtained in 1969, and neighbouring parcels the Marquess of Bute Estates obtained before that, may once all have formed part of our family's estate and may have been systematically taken parcel by parcel, using permissive occupancy or other methods, as I allege occurred in the circumstances surrounding the landmark legal case BP Properties Ltd v Buckler [1987]. [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] We know that the War Agricultural Committee occupied the field BP obtained in 1969 long before. There were also the 33 acres carved for the limeworks for WW1. And the way the council obtained the southern half of our parcel for a green, following Western Ground Rents' seizure of it from my nan [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] while she asserted ownership despite what I believe to have been the theft of her title, is, in my view, a rhyme of the history of playing fields local authorities took of other nearby parcels beforehand—i.e. "playing fields". So our occupancy of the manorial house of the former estate since the reported 1667 (in the 1974 South Wales article[personal passage omitted — not about the farm case]) appears to me to support the proposition that we were the minor-gentry Welsh family, and my birth in the home is part of the basis upon which I consider myself to be the heir and successor. I believe that my and my family's dispossession and the demolition of our home and seizure of our lands were unlawful, unconstitutional, inhumane and illegal. Those are conclusions I have reached from my investigation and are matters I am continuing to investigate [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] Artefacts were destroyed in warehouse fires in Neath. Complaints were made about the processing of the 1,026 medieval burials secretly excavated in 1994. [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] I want the Ministry of Justice to understand that these are the conclusions, allegations and working theories arising from my investigation. I am continuing to distinguish between matters established by documentary evidence, matters supported by family evidence, and matters which remain hypotheses requiring further investigation. I also want to be completely clear about the scope point arising from the reference to the 133 houses. I am not asking the Ministry of Justice to investigate or determine the title of the land on which those 133 houses are proposed, nor am I asking it to determine the ownership of the neighbouring BP parcel or the other parcels forming part of my wider investigation. Those matters provide present-day context for why I am investigating the historical events, but they are not themselves the subject of my SAR internal review. The underlying concern remains that I am attempting to establish what happened to my family's land, home and occupation, what records were created concerning those events, what involvement Government bodies may have had, and what happened subsequently to those records. That is why the historical court proceedings, enforcement proceedings, Government legal involvement, European Commission of Human Rights Application No. 14464/88, and any records concerning me as a child in connection with the 1988 enforcement remain relevant to my request. I understand from your letter of 2 October 2026 that the Ministry of Justice is undertaking further searches to establish whether the original SAR response was correct. I therefore ask that those searches proceed, with the above clarification of scope. I am not asking the Ministry of Justice to accept my working theory as established fact. I am asking it to account accurately for the records and personal data which it holds or previously held, and for the documentary basis of any conclusion that relevant records were destroyed, transferred or otherwise ceased to be held. Regards, Sion Buckler [personal passage omitted — not about the farm case] PS – I'll keep the website update for public record and interest.
